The Discourse about Mindfulness related to the Body

The Setting

Evam me¹ sutam:

Thus I heard:

ekam samayam Bhagavā Sāvattiyam viharati, at one time the Gracious One was dwelling near Sāvattihī, Jetavane Anāthapiṇḍikassa² ārāme.

in Jeta's Wood, at Anāthapiṇḍika's monastery.

Atha kho sambahulānam bhikkhūnam,
Then amongst many monks, pacchābhattam piṇḍapātaṭikkantānam, after returning from the alms-round after the meal, upaṭṭhānasālāyam sannisinnānam sannipatitānam,

assembling together, and sitting in the attendance hall,

ayam-antarākathā udapādi:
this conversation arose:

“Acchariyam āvuso, abbhutam³ āvuso, “Wonderful, friend, marvellous, friend,

yāvañ-cidam tena Bhagavatā jānatā passatā Arahātā Sammāsambuddhena
* that this was said by the Gracious One, who knows, who sees, the Worthy One, the Perfect Sambuddha:

“Kāyagatāsati bhāvitā bahulikātā mahapphalā vuttā mahānisaṃsā’ ” ti, “Mindfulness related to the body, when it has been developed and made much of yields great fruit and brings great advantages’ ”, ayam ca⁴ hidam tesam bhikkhūnam antarākathā vippakatā hoti.

but this conversation amongst those monks was left unfinished.

² PTS: Anātha-, possibly a printer's error.

³ Thai: abbhūtam, and below, as though we were dealing with an etymology: a + bhūtam, but with unexplained gemination.

⁴ Thai: kho.

Atha kho Bhagavā sāyanhasamayam⁵ paṭisallānā⁶ vuṭṭhito, Then the Gracious One, having risen from seclusion in the evening time, yenupaṭṭhānasālā⁷ tenupasaṅkhami, went to the assembly hall, upasaṅkhamitvā, paññatte āsane nisīdi.

and after going, he sat down on the prepared seat.

Nisajja kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:
Having sat down the Gracious One addressed the monks, (saying):

“Kāyanuttha bhikkhave etarahi kathāya sannisinnā,⁸ “What is the talk about, monks, amongst those who are sitting here at present, kā ca pana vo antarākathā vippakatā?” ti.

and what is the conversation that you left unfinished?”

“Idha bhante amhākaṃ pacchābhataṃ piṇḍapātapaṭikkantānaṃ, “Here, reverend Sir, after returning from the alms-round after the meal, upaṭṭhānasālāyaṃ sannisinnānaṃ sannipatitānaṃ,

assembling together, and sitting in the attendance hall,

ayam-antarākathā udapādi:
this conversation arose:

‘Acchariyam āvuso, abbhutaṃ āvuso,
‘Wonderful, friend, marvellous, friend,

yāvañ-cidaṃ tena Bhagavatā jānatā passatā Arahatā Sammāsambuddhena
* that this was said by the Gracious One, who knows, who sees, the Worthy One, the Perfect Sambuddha:

“Kāyagatāsati bhāvitā bahulikatā mahapphalā vuttā mahānisamsā” ’ ti, “Mindfulness related to the body, when it has been developed and made much of yields great fruit and brings great advantages” ’, ayam no⁹ bhante antarākathā vippakatā, atha Bhagavā anuppatto” ti.

this conversation amongst us was left unfinished, then the Gracious One arrived.”

⁵ PTS, Thai: sāyaṇha-, -n- and -ṇ- are regularly confused in the texts, possible as a result of unclear articulation.

⁶ PTS: paṭisallānā, probably a printer’s error, as -ṇ- doesn’t normally appear in this word.

⁷ ChS, Thai: yena upaṭṭhānasālā, parsed form of word in the text.

⁸ PTS adds sannipatitā.

⁹ ChS: ayam kho no.

“Katham bhāvitā ca bhikkhave kāyagatāsati katham bahulikatā

“And how, monks, does mindfulness related to the body when it has been developed and made much of mahapphalā hoti mahānisaṃsā?

yield great fruit and bring great advantages?¹⁰

Mindfulness while Breathing

Idha bhikkhave bhikkhu araṅṅagato vā, rukkhamūlagato vā,

Here, monks, a monk who has gone to the wilderness, or to the root of a tree, suñṅāgāragato vā, nisīdati.

or to an empty place, sits down.

Pallaṅkam ābhujitvā, ujum kāyam paṇidhāya,

After folding his legs crosswise, setting his body straight, parimukham satim upaṭṭhapetvā, and establishing mindfulness at the front, so sato va assasati, sato¹¹ passasati.

ever mindful he breathes in, mindful he breathes out.

Dīgham vā assasanto “dīgham assasāmī” ti pajānāti,

While breathing in long, he knows “I am breathing in long”, dīgham vā passasanto “dīgham passasāmī” ti pajānāti, while breathing out long, he knows “I am breathing out long”, rassam vā assasanto “rassam assasāmī” ti pajānāti, while breathing in short, he knows “I am breathing in short”, rassam vā passasanto “rassam passasāmī” ti pajānāti, while breathing out short, he knows “I am breathing out short”, sabbakāyapaṭisaṃvedī assasissāmī ti sikkhati, he trains like this: experiencing the whole body I will breathe in, sabbakāyapaṭisaṃvedī passasissāmī ti sikkhati, he trains like this: experiencing the whole body I will breathe out, ¹⁰ The sequence of meditation exercises that follow are exactly the same as appear in the Kāyānupassanā section of Mahāsatipaṭṭhānasutta elsewhere on this website. For notes to the first section see the translation of The Discourse about Mindfulness while Breathing; and for the notes to the others see The Ways of Attending to Mindfulness.

¹¹ ChS: satova.

passambhayam kāyasaṅkhāraṃ assasissāmī ti sikkhati, he trains like this: making the bodily process calm I will breathe in, passambhayam kāyasaṅkhāraṃ passasissāmī ti sikkhati.

he trains like this: making the bodily process calm I will breathe out.

Tassa evaṃ¹² appamattassa ātāpino pahitattassa viharato

For the one who is living heedful, ardent, and resolute in this way ye¹³ gehasitā sarasaṅkappā te pahīyanti, tesaṃ¹⁶ pahānā ajjhattam-eva cittaṃ santiṭṭhati, and with the giving up of these the mind becomes internally¹⁷ stable, settles down, becomes one-pointed, and concentrated.

Evam-pi¹⁹ bhikkhave bhikkhu kāyagataṃ satim²⁰ bhāveti.

Like this, monks, does a monk develop mindfulness related to the body.²¹

¹² PTS: evam, sandhi form; once or twice PTS writes evam in this position.

¹³ PTS: ye te, throughout.

¹⁴ Comm: sarasaṅkappā ti dhāvanasaṅkappā; rushing thoughts means running thoughts.

Ñāṇamoli and Bodhi take it as a dvanda compound and render it as ‘memories and intentions’, but the commentary is clearly taking it as a kammadhāraya compound.

¹⁵ Comm: tattha gehasitā ti pañcakāmaguṇanissitā; herein, dependent on the household life means depending on the five strands of sense pleasure.

¹⁶ PTS: tesam, sandhi form, throughout.

¹⁷ Comm: ajjhattam-evā ti gocarajjhattasmim yeva; internally means within the proper range.

A monk’s proper range (gocara) is described elsewhere in terms of the four ways of attending to mindfulness.

¹⁸ Thai: ekodibhoti, alternative form, throughout.

¹⁹ ChS: Evam here, but evampi hereafter.

²⁰ ChS: kāyagatasatim, compound form, throughout in this position.

²¹ Comm: kāyagatāsatin-ti kāyapariggāhikam-pi kāyārammaṇam-pi satim. Kāyapariggāhikan-ti vutte samatho kathito hoti, kāyārammaṇan-ti vutte vipassanā; mindfulness related to the body means mindfulness that takes hold of the body and that which takes the body as sense object. When mindfulness that grasps the body is said calm is spoken of, when taking the body as sense object (is said) insight is spoken of.

The Postures

Puna ca param, bhikkhave bhikkhu gacchanto vā “gacchāmī” ti pajānāti; Moreover, monks, a monk while going knows “I am going”;

ṭhito vā “ṭhitomhī” ti pajānāti, nisinno vā “nisinnomhī” ti pajānāti; or, standing he knows “I am standing”; or, sitting he knows “I am sitting”;

sayāno vā “sayānomhī” ti pajānāti;
or, while lying down he knows “I am lying down”;

yathā yathā vā panassa kāyo pañihito hoti, tathā tathā nam pajānāti.
or, in whatever way his body is disposed, he knows it is (disposed) in just that way.

Full Awareness

Puna ca param, bhikkhave bhikkhu abhikkante paṭikkante sampajānakārī hoti;
Moreover, monks, a monk in going forwards, in going back, is one who practises with full awareness; ālokite vilokite sampajānakārī hoti;

in looking ahead, or in looking around, he is one who practises with full awareness; sammiñjite²² pasārite sampajānakārī hoti;

in bending or in stretching, he is one who practises with full awareness;

²² ChS: samiñjite, here and below. There is no historical reason for gemination in this word, but according to the evidence of the majority of the texts it seems to take place saṅghāṭipattacīvaradhāraṇe sampajānakārī hoti;

in bearing his double-robe, bowl, and (other) robes, he is one who practises with full awareness;

asite pīte khāyite sāyite sampajānakārī hoti; in eating, in drinking, in chewing, in tasting, he is one who practises with full awareness;

uccārapassāvakamme sampajānakārī hoti;

in passing stool and urine, he is one who practises with full awareness; gate ṭhite nisinne; sutte jāgarite; bhāsīte tuṇhībhāve sampajānakārī hoti.

in going, in standing, in sitting; in sleeping, in waking; in talking, and in maintaining silence, he is one who practises with full awareness.

Applying the Mind to Repulsiveness

Puna ca paraṃ, bhikkhave bhikkhu imam-eva kāyaṃ -

Moreover, monks, a monk in regard to this very body - uddhaṃ pādatalā, adho kesamatthakā, tacapariyantam, from the sole of the feet upwards, from the hair of the head down, bounded by the skin,

²⁷ PTS: mūtoḷi, ChS: putoḷi, Thai: mūtolī; the correct form of this word is very confused in the texts.

²⁸ ChS: seyyathīdam, throughout, with ellipsis (seyyath’ + idam) rather than sandhi.

²⁹ PTS omits bhikkhu, but a subject is required.

For the one who is living heedful, ardent, and resolute in this way

ye gehasitā sarasaṅkappā te pahīyanti, whatever rushing thoughts there are dependent on the household life are given up, ³⁰ ChS: pathavī-, showing the dental/cerebral alternation found in the texts. ChS always uses this form.

³¹ ChS: cātumahāpathe, but we would expect cātu- to develop cātur- > cātum-.

³² Thai: vilaso, showing the v/b alternation found in the texts.

³³ PTS: paṭibhajivā; Thai: paṭivibhajivā; all 3 forms have the same meaning.

tesaṃ pahānā ajjhattam-eva cittaṃ santiṭṭhati,

and with the giving up of these the mind becomes internally stable, sannisīdati ekodi hoti samādhīyati.

settles down, becomes one-pointed, and concentrated.

Evam-pi bhikkhave bhikkhu kāyagataṃ satim bhāveti.

Like this, monks, does a monk develop mindfulness related to the body.

The First Charnel Ground

Puna ca param, bhikkhave bhikkhu seyyathā pi

Moreover, monks, it's as if a monk passeyya sarīraṃ sīvathikāya³⁴ chaḍḍitaṃ, might see a body thrown into a charnel ground, ekāhamataṃ vā dvīhamataṃ vā tīhamataṃ vā, dead for one day, or dead for two days, or dead for three days, uddhumātakam vinīlakam vipubbakajātam.

bloated, discoloured, having become quite rotten.

So imam-eva kāyaṃ upasaṃharati:

He then compares it with his very own body (thinking):

‘Ayam-pi kho kāyo evaṃdhammo evaṃbhāvī etaṃ³⁵ anatīto.’ ti

‘This body also has such a nature, has such a constitution, has not gone beyond this.’

whatever rushing thoughts there are dependent on the household life are given up,

tesaṃ pahānā ajjhattam-eva cittaṃ santiṭṭhati,

³⁴ PTS: sīvathikāyaṃ, alternate form of the locative; ChS: sivathikāya, throughout, the etymology is unknown and either form may be correct.

³⁵ PTS, Thai: evaṃ, ChS: evam, throughout; it seems to me that etaṃ makes more sense here, and evaṃ is probably a result of regularisation.

settles down, becomes one-pointed, and concentrated.

Evam-pi bhikkhave bhikkhu kāyagataṃ satim bhāveti.

Like this, monks, does a monk develop mindfulness related to the body.

The Second Charnel Ground

Puna ca param, bhikkhave bhikkhu seyyathā pi

Moreover, monks, it's as if a monk passeyya sarīram sīvathikāya chaḍḍitam,

might see a body thrown into a charnel ground, kākehi vā khajjamānaṃ, kulalehi vā khajjamānaṃ,³⁶ gijjhehi vā khajjamānaṃ,³⁷ being eaten by crows, or being eaten by hawks, or being eaten by vultures, suvāṇehi³⁸ vā khajjamānaṃ, sigālehi³⁹ vā khajjamānaṃ, or being eaten by dogs, or being eaten by jackals, vividhehi vā pāṇakajātehi khajjamānaṃ.

or being eaten by various kinds of worms.

So imam-eva kāyam upasamharati:

He then compares it with his very own body (thinking):

‘Ayam-pi kho kāyo evaṃdhammo evambhāvī etaṃ anatīto’ ti.

‘This body also has such a nature, has such a constitution, has not gone beyond this.’

For the one who is living heedful, ardent, and resolute in this way

ye gehasitā sarasaṅkappā te pahīyanti,

whatever rushing thoughts there are dependent on the household life are given up, ³⁶ Thai reverses the order of kulalehi and gijjhehi.

³⁷ ChS inserts kaṅkehi vā khajjamānaṃ; eaten by herons, ChS has many additions to the other texts which are inserted for emphasis.

³⁸ ChS: sunakhehi.

³⁹ Thai: siṅgālehi; probably from Vedic sygāla, in which case the nasal is not justified; ChS inserts byagghehi vā khajjamānaṃ, dīpīhi vā khajjamānaṃ, siṅgālehi; eaten by tigers, eaten by leopards.

⁴⁰ Thai, ChS, abbreviate with ...pe... until evam-pi bhikkhave below.

tesaṃ pahānā ajjhattam-eva cittaṃ santiṭṭhati,

and with the giving up of these the mind becomes internally stable, ⁴¹ PTS, ChS: aṭṭhikasaṅkhalikaṃ, also elsewhere, the meaning is the same.

⁴² ChS: nhārusambaddhaṃ, similarly below, without the epenthetic vowel. BJT, Thai and ChS abbreviate with ...pe... most of the charnel ground reflections that follow; Thai marks with ... ; PTS also abbreviates, but doesn't mark it in any way.

⁹⁸ ChS: ta tatre ? perhaps a printer’s error.

⁹⁹ PTS: -bhavyatam, alternative form (-vy- developing to -bb-); Thai: sakkhibyatam ?

¹⁰⁰ This is a locative absolute construction giving temporal meaning, the first sati is locative present participle from verb atthi, is, the second is the noun.

¹⁰¹ PTS: āvajjeyya = were to upset it; Thai: āpajjeyya, difficult to see a good meaning here; ChS: āviñcheyya, were to toss it about?

¹⁰² PTS omits bhikkhave, which is expected.

¹⁰³ BJT: pokkharāṇi, possibly printer’s error; BJT, ChS add assa.

¹⁰⁴ ChS: āḷibandhā, showing the -dd/-nd- alternation.

¹⁰⁵ Thai: paccheyya ?

¹⁰⁶ Thai: ubhantarapaṭodo ? the last word shows the t/ṭ alternation, which occurs also separately below.

The Ten Advantages of Practising Mindfulness related to the Body

Kāyagatāya bhikkhave satiyā āsevitāya bhāvitāya bahulikatāya When mindfulness related to the body, monks, is practised, developed, made much of, yānikatāya vatthukatāya anuṭṭhitāya paricitāya susamāradhāya carried on, established, maintained, augmented, and properly instigated, ime¹¹⁰ dasānisāṃsā paṭikaṅkhā. Katame dasa?¹¹¹ these ten advantages are to be expected. Which ten?

1. Aratiratisaho hoti, na ca taṃ arati sahati,
He is one who has overcome liking and disliking, he is not overcome by disliking, uppannaṃ aratiṃ abhibhuyya¹¹² viharati.

when disliking arises he dwells on having overcome it.

¹⁰⁸ Thai: hatkena, printer's error.

¹⁰⁹ PTS: yenicchakaṃ sāreyya, would lead them wherever he liked; Thai: yadicchakaṃ yadicchakaṃ sāreyya, would lead them just as (emphatic through repetition) he liked.

¹¹⁰ ChS omits ime, which is needed from the context.

¹¹¹ Thai, ChS omit Katame dasa, which is to be expected in these statements.

¹¹² BJT, PTS add a second abhibhuyya, and also below, having completely overcome it.

2. Bhayabheravasaho hoti, na ca taṃ bhayabheravaṃ sahati,

He is one who has overcome fear and fright, he is not overcome by fear and fright, uppannaṃ bhayabheravaṃ ahibhuyya viharati, when fear and fright arise he dwells on having overcome it.

3. Khamo hoti sītassa uṇhassa jīghacchāya pipāsāya,

He is one who bears up with cold, heat, hunger, thirst, ḍamsamakasavātātapasirīmsapasamphassānaṃ¹¹³ gadflies, mosquitoes, wind, the heat (of the sun), and creeping things, duruttānaṃ durāgatānaṃ vacanapathānaṃ;

badly spoken, unwelcome ways of speaking;

uppannānaṃ sārīrikānaṃ vedanānaṃ dukkhānaṃ, and towards arisen bodily unpleasant feeling (that is) tippānaṃ kharānaṃ kaṭukānaṃ asātānaṃ amanāpānaṃ paṇaharānaṃ, sharp, harsh, bitter, disagreeable, unwanted, life-threatening, adhivāsakajātiko hoti.

he is one who endures it.

4. Catunnaṃ jhānānaṃ ābhicetasikānaṃ,

In regard to the four absorptions, the purest mentalities, diṭṭhadhammasukhavihārānaṃ nikāmalābhī hoti, which are a pleasant living here and now, he is one who obtains (them) at will,

akicchalābhī akasiralābhī.¹¹⁴ obtains (them) without difficulty, obtains (them) without trouble.

5. So¹¹⁵ anekavihitānaṃ iddhividhaṃ paccanubhoti:¹¹⁶

He experiences various kinds of psychic power:¹¹⁷

eko pi hutvā bahudhā hoti;

having been one he becomes many;

¹¹³ ChS: -sirīsapa-, which shows the -im-/ī alternation.

¹¹⁴ Thai: akicchalābhī hoti akasiralābhī hoti, possibly a result of regularisation.

¹¹⁵ PTS omits So, which is needed by the syntax.

¹¹⁶ ChS: paccānubhoti, which is not justified. The form is derived = paṭi + anubhoti >> paṭy-anubhoti >> pacc + anubhoti.

¹¹⁷ This and the following five advantages constitute the six deep knowledges (abhiññā).

bahudhā pi hutvā eko hoti;

having been many he becomes one;

āvibhāvaṃ¹¹⁸ tirobhāvaṃ;

he appears and disappears;

tirokuḍḍaṃ tiropākāraṃ tiropabbataṃ asajjamāno gacchati, seyyathā pi ākāse;

he goes unhindered through a wall, through a fence, through a mountain, as though in the sky;

paṭhaviyāpi ummujjanimmujjaṃ karoti, seyyathā pi udake;

he dives into and emerges from the earth, as though in water;

udake pi abhijjamāne¹¹⁹ gacchati, seyyathā pi paṭhaviyaṃ;

he crosses water without sinking, as though on earth;

ākāse pi pallaṅkena kamati, seyyathā pi pakkhī sakuṇo;

he goes cross-legged though the sky, as though he were a bird with wings;

ime pi candimasuriye evaṃmahiddhike evaṃmahānubhāve, this moon and sun, which are so powerful, so majestic, pāṇinā parimasati parimajjati;

he touches, he strokes with his hand;

yāva Brahmaloḷā pi kāyena vasaṃ vatteti.¹²⁰

he exercises power as far as the Brahma worlds with his body.

6. Dibbāya sotadhātuyā visuddhāya atikkantamānusikāya ubho sadde suṇāti:

With the divine ear-element which is purified and surpasses that of (normal) men he listens to both (kinds of) sounds:

dibbe ca mānuse ca, ye dūre¹²¹ santike ca.¹²² of the divinities and of men, whether far or near.

¹¹⁸ Thai, ChS abbreviate with ...pe... up to yāva Brahmaloḷā pi kāyena vasaṃ vatteti 8 lines below.

¹¹⁹ PTS: abhijjamāno, printer's error.

¹²⁰ Thai: saṃvatteti, which has no good meaning.

¹²¹ PTS adds ca.

¹²² ChS adds ...pe... here, but nothing is omitted from the normal sequence.

7. Parasattānaṃ parapuggalānaṃ cetasā ceto paricca pajānāti:

He knows that with his mind he can read the minds of other beings, of other persons:

sarāgaṃ vā cittaṃ “sarāgaṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti, when a mind has passion he knows “the mind has passion”, vītarāgaṃ vā cittaṃ¹²³ “vītarāgaṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti; or when a mind is without passion he knows “the mind is without passion”;

sadosaṃ vā cittaṃ “sadosaṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti, or when a mind has hate he knows “the mind has hate”, vītadosaṃ vā cittaṃ “vītadosaṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti;

or when a mind is without hate he knows “the mind is without hate”;

samohaṃ vā cittaṃ “samohaṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti, or when a mind has delusion he knows “the mind has delusion”, vītamohaṃ vā cittaṃ “vītamohaṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti;

or when a mind is without delusion he knows “the mind is without delusion”; saṅkhittaṃ vā cittaṃ “saṅkhittaṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti, or when a mind is collected he knows “the mind is collected”, vikkhittaṃ vā cittaṃ “vikkhittaṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti;

or when a mind is scattered he knows “the mind is scattered”;

mahaggataṃ vā cittaṃ “mahaggataṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti, or when a mind has become very great he knows “the mind has become very great”, amahaggataṃ vā cittaṃ “amahaggataṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti; or when a mind has not become very great he knows “the mind has not become very great”;

sa-uttaraṃ vā cittaṃ “sa-uttaraṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti, or when a mind is surpassable he knows “the mind is surpassable”, anuttaraṃ vā cittaṃ “anuttaraṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti;

or when a mind is unsurpassable he knows “the mind is unsurpassable”; samāhitaṃ vā cittaṃ “samāhitaṃ cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti, or when a mind is concentrated he knows “the mind is concentrated”, ¹²³ Thai, ChS abbreviate from here on ... pe... sadosaṃ vā cittaṃ ...pe... vītadosaṃ vā cittaṃ, etc.

asamāhitam vā cittaṃ “asamāhitam cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti; or when a mind is not concentrated he knows “the mind is not concentrated”;

vimuttam vā cittaṃ “vimuttam cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti, or when a mind is liberated he knows “the mind is liberated”, avimuttam vā cittaṃ “avimuttam cittaṃ”-ti pajānāti.

or when a mind is not liberated he knows “the mind is not liberated”.

inferior, superior, beautiful, ugly, in a good destiny, in a bad destiny, yathākammūpage satte pajānāti.

and he knows beings arise according to their (good and bad) actions.

10. Āsavānam khayā anāsavam cetovimuttiṃ paññāvimuttiṃ

Through the destruction of the pollutants, without pollutants, freed in mind, freed through wisdom, diṭṭhe va dhamme sayam abhiññā sacchikatvā upasampajja viharati.¹²⁷ he dwells having known, having directly experienced, and having attained (Nibbāna) himself in this very life.
